An Indian Sketch-Book

BY

L. RAVEN-HILL

(Author of "Our Battalion.")

LONDON:

"PUNCH" OFFICE, 10, BOUVERIE STREET, E.C.

To E. A.

DEAR E.,—Some of these “leaves from a sketch-book” may recall to you scenes we saw together; the others, many of them roughly noted at odd moments snatched from the tedium of railway journeys, will, I hope, give you some impression of the things that struck me as curious during a hurried visit to the Shining East—a visit just long enough to get accustomed to using a tin mug instead of a sponge, to partially overcome an aversion to jam in Aspinall’s Enamel tins, and to acquire a liking for cheroots at Rs. 2-4. Perhaps, to those who have not been in India, some of the sketches may seem to lack explanation, but, as you know, there are many things unfamiliar to English eyes that one would wish explained, and but few who can tell you the why or wherefore; so, in these cases, I can but say, “This is what I saw, would that I could tell you more.”

When the Anglo Indian returns to his Indian home the head men in his camp welcome him by hanging wreaths of flowers on his back and present him with stiff bouquets glittering with silver thread. Being for the time being "one of the family" I was included in the welcome on the Apollo Boulder, but not having been warned I felt my costume and general appearance was unworthy of the historic event.
